The Future Eli and Edythe Broad Art Museum
The future Eli and Edythe Broad Art Museum to be built on Grand River Avenue will serve as a new gateway entrance to campus. Five internationally known architects competed to design the signature building this summer. Ground breaking is expected at the end of 2008 and the building will be completed in 2010. The campus and community eagerly anticipate this world-class art museum which will be an iconic building, a catalyst for regional and economic development, a premier venue for exhibitions and collections, and a showcase to enrich the educational experience and aesthetic enjoyment of fine art.
